

The Black River Imaging software also offers a See My Prints Image upload. This will enable you to load your images through our ftp server rather than loading directly through the See My Prints site.

You'll find detailed information for the See My Prints site by reading the FAQ, which you can find online, or by using this link: <http://www.seemyprints.com/SmpFAQs.asp>.

To begin you will need to be in the Black River Imaging software and the See My Prints Upload catalog file. Once the screen populates you will see the Important Information screen appear, this is letting you know that you need to first establish your See My Prints account and that the images will be loaded to the account with the matching email address as you what you have in the My Information palette at the time you upload.

You will now need to go to sizes and choose the SeeMyPrints Upload and add your images to the order by dragging and dropping them into the opening. The online sequence will be based off the sequence in which you add them to the order. We will transfer the images over in full frame ratio regardless of how they appear in the product opening. You may want to use the Select All option to move large quantities of images at once.

You will receive an email when we receive the order and it will let you know that the images are ready at www.seemyprints.com. The event will be listed by order number and you will need to log in to edit the name. For more information please see the FAQ's and Quick Start Guide online.
